What Students Can Expect from the Undergraduate Advising Office

Dedicating ourselves to the values established by the University of Missouri, we:

- Create an inclusive and welcoming environment while listening to our students and respecting their autonomy to make life decisions.
- Motivate students to take responsibility of their education, identifying and utilizing resources to support their academic, personal, and professional development.
- Inspire student discovery of academic interests in business to navigate options through coursework, certificates, minors, and degrees.
- Empower students to hold themselves accountable to a standard of excellence and advocate for their interests.

What the Undergraduate Advising Office Expects of Students

- Take charge, utilizing your advisor as a partner in your education
- Ask for help EARLY, be a self-advocate by utilizing campus resources
- Stay informed (READ YOUR EMAIL)
- Be a professional with integrity (be respectful, on-time, and prepared)
- Go to class, complete your homework, and study throughout the semester (not just the night before an exam)
- Get involved in & out of the classroom
